

WASHINGTON STAR

APR 10 1964

House Group Spurred On Intelligence Setup

By the Associated Press

The House Rules Committee has been urged by Representative Zablocki, Democrat of Wisconsin, to approve his resolution to establish a congressional committee to watch intelligence activities.

An intensified congressional review of United States intelligence activities is needed, Mr. Zablocki said because of the spread of Government agencies dealing in intelligence and the growing cost to taxpayers.

CPYRGHT